Learning Lean

Karen Zwick, Editor

I love my profession of Instructional Design. I create online and classroom training materials for corporations, universities, and other organizations. This profession is a great match for me because I love helping people and I love learning new things all of the time.

One of my most recent projects involves creating a two-year high school curriculum in advanced manufacturing and logistics. As a result, I’ve been learning a lot about modern technologies and techniques the best organizations have adopted to become leaders in their industries and global markets.

One of the topics that really caught my interest and attention is the subject of “Lean”. One common technique used to become Lean is called “5S”.

The principles of 5S are:

- Sort – separate items in the workplace to the following categories:
Needed, Not Needed, Not Sure if Needed
- Set in Order – arranged all of the needed items so they are put away, easy to find, and accessible for use
- Shine – keep your area and equipment clean by making cleaning part of your daily routine
- Standardize – keep similar work areas consistent
- Sustain – keep up the Sort, Set in Order, Shine, and Standardize

Organizations that apply the 5S principles frequently cite significant productivity improvements, increased safety and quality, and a stronger sense of teamwork among co-workers. So... how might 5S principles be applied in your home? I offer the following ideas:

- Do you waste a lot of time looking for things? If so, apply the Sort principle and get rid of stuff you don’t really need. My mother’s rule was if we hadn’t used something in the last six months – we really didn’t need it. This is a key step to getting your life in better order.
- In your kitchen, office, or garage, put the tools you use most frequently in the most accessible locations. Put less frequently used stuff away (or get rid of it all together).
- Keep things neat and put away every day.

It's July. Wow! It's hard to believe. It seems time moves so rapidly, but I wonder if part of that perception is an illusion created by the retail industry. The last July Fourth firework is fading in the sky when the retailers start putting out the Back-to-School displays and the fall merchandise.

We aren't given time to enjoy the season we are in before we are being rushed into the next. I'm more aware of this after spending six weeks at home alone while recovering from my recent surgery. Time stood still for me and it was really a joy. I was able to reflect on a lot of things that I hadn't really taken the time to think about for way too long. Sometimes we need to just lock the door, pull the blinds, turn off the cell phone, and let the world spin by without us while we listen to the quiet and look within.

I was just looking online at the list of programs that will be offered at the Annual Gathering in Reno in just a few weeks. One of the things I love about the AG is the variety and quantity of thought-provoking programs. One of the things I dislike about the AG is the variety and quantity of thought-provoking programs. There are just too many of them! The program that is never offered is how to be several places at one time. This is Mensa, people. Someone should be able to figure that out! Until then, I'll keep my coin handy for flipping purposes.

Coming up on our schedule is The Last Bash of Summer for the Mensa Family Program. Kids and parents will be camping in Plymouth, Indiana on July 20 and 21. This is the third year for this fun-filled event. Check the calendar for more details.

We have a New Member Dinner in July. This is a nice way to welcome people who are new to our group whether new Mensa members or folks who have just moved into the area. Please join us for this opportunity to say Howdy to the new kids in town! See the calendar for more details.

We are working on getting our annual fall picnic scheduled in September. We hope to have it at Eagle Creek Park again this year. Arrangements and dates are pending.

Also in September is our bi-annual election. We will be getting more information about the candidates in the next newsletter. Ballots will be mailed to every active Central Indiana Mensa member in August. Let's see a good return on those.

Have a wonderful and safe July Fourth!

In September, Central Indiana Mensa members will vote for their choice for LocSec and then choose up to eight additional candidates from all the remaining candidates to complete the ExCom. The ballot will be mailed to each member on or before August 20th and may either be mailed in or cast at the September Monthly Gathering, during which the results will be announced. This is not complicated, 100 % participation is possible, and the ExCom will appreciate the mandate of a high response.

If you are a candidate and have decided you want to run for LocSec, please let the NomCom know right away.

In the late 19th century, Arthur Conan Doyle introduced the reading public to a "consulting detective" with an entirely new approach to solving crimes: Sherlock Holmes of Baker Street. In his talk, Mr. Zauner will discuss the state of forensic science at the turn of the 20th century, with brief accounts of a few of the pioneers in the field, and will explore some striking similarities between the methods of Holmes and the science used to help solve several notable crimes of the time.

The Illustrious Clients, established in 1946, is a scion society of the Baker Street Irregulars of New York and one of the most active Holmes societies in the country. Mr. Zauner has been a forensic scientist for more than 24 years and a member of the Clients for 20 years, currently serving as Vice President.

Within Your Ken

Ken Silver RVC4

There have been a number of articles in the media lately about very young children qualifying for Mensa, both in this country, and around the world. The media loves prodigies. When my own daughter qualified for Mensa at the age of four in 2006, having taken an IQ test so that she could get early admission into kindergarten, she was the 8th youngest member of American Mensa. Now six years later, at the age of 10, she's probably closer to 800th!

Personally I like the idea of the very young becoming members. If you've been a member as long as you can remember, you're likely to stay a member. What better way to get an age distribution among members; that looks more like that of the general population, than having continuous members that started when they were young. Looking around at any Mensa event, that's certainly something we lack now.

We like having our young members, but it's also a huge responsibility and a little scary. You just have to read the sports pages to see what a slipup can do to an organization. Mensa does take this responsibility very seriously. It's an area that undergoes constant scrutiny on the part our staff, legal team, insurance carriers, and the AMC. We do everything we can think of to protect our youngest, most vulnerable members. Mensa pays for background checks for local group Gifted Children's Coordinators, and for any other members who may supervise an event. Non-member parents are encouraged to participate with their member children, but not as supervisors.

For those who do not have access to local events, there is a wealth of fun on the internet. There's www.mensaforkids.org, Fred: The magazine for young Mensans, and many other resources for parents and teachers on the American Mensa website.

Robert O. Adair

Lonesome Whistle Blows

Deep in the night,
when people lie abed
that lonesome,
lonely train whistle
sounds across the way, provoking a young man's longing to see the world,
to visit far away exotic climes!
A sweetheart longs
for her loved one's return.
Ah! if only that train
was bringing him back to her!
A couple wanting to revisit that little town they grew up in!
So filled with memories
and where everyone
knows your name!
Others wanting
to go out in the world
to find a job,
to find success, fulfillment!
So many things, it stirs up,
emotions, longings, aspirations!
Oh! That lonesome whistle sounding in the night!

Stay With Me

Stay with me
in the beauty of Springtime,
the lush, richness of Summer,
the colorful, waning days of Autumn,
the bright, cold beauty of Winter.

Stay with me,
through all the little things,

Judy Collins

Singing Wild Mountain Thyme
around the blooming Heather,
her rich, beautiful voice
soars to the heavens!
The internal rhythm of the words,
the internal rhythm of the music,
her perfect body movements,
all three together as one!
Her lovely face,
striking blue eyes,
high cheekbones
perfect jaw line
and flowing tresses
all fitly framed together!
That haunting music
speaking of the longing,
the unfulfilled aspirations
of the human heart,
transporting me utterly,
moving me to tears
as a wonderful performance
often does.
Why do I want to run up on the stage
and give her a big hug?

the patter of the rain,
basking in the sunshine
giving pleasure again and again.

Stay with me
tramping through a field,
viewing a bright wildflower,
hugging and kissing
beneath a leafy bower.

Central Indiana Mensa Ex-Com Minutes 03/27/12

Karen Wilczewski, Recording Secretary

LocSec Teresa Gregory opened the meeting at 7:33 p.m. Members present included: Jan Pfeil Doyle, David Bonner, Karen Wilczewski, Bob Zdanky, and Karen Zwick. Absent: Cyndi Kuypers and Alan Schmidt. Petra Ritchie, Jud Horning, and Nancy White were guests.

The minutes of the March Ex-Com meeting were accepted with minor corrections. (Karen Zwick moved; Jan Pfeil Doyle seconded the motion. It passed unanimously)

Alan Schmidt's Treasurer's report showed the balance as of 4/24/12 was $20,635.28 (Jan Pfeil Doyle moved to accept the Treasurer's report; Karen Zwick seconded the motion. It passed unanimously)

The membership report showed 2 new members, 8 reinstating members, 2 move-in members, and 17 prospects.

Old Business

Upcoming Mensa Election: The final list of candidates is still being finalized.

Outdoor Gathering: Karen Zwick is moving forward with developing menus and recruiting volunteers who will bring items and help cook during this year's OG, May 18-20. She's also organizing a baked potato bar, which will be featured at this year's event.

Gifted Children's Program: Three individuals are interested in leading the Gifted Children's Program for the next two years. Devin Lee is a move-in member and teacher from Texas Mensa. She attended the March CIM monthly meeting and is pursuing a degree in gifted education. She's motivated, because she has two daughters, six and eight years of age.

A second possible candidate's family attended a camping event the Gifted Children's Program held last August. Jessie Ramirez has gifted child in the program. She's willing to offer her home for a monthly game night for the children.

Candidate number three is our own Teresa Gregory, now that she's stepping down as LocSec later this year.

With these quality candidates offering to help, David feels he can carry forward the Gifted Children's Program. One of the benefits is the possibility that, once these kids turn age 18, they can be encouraged to consider adult membership in our local chapter.

While the technical name for the group is the Gifted Family Program, David suggested a possibly more appropriate name could be the Central Indiana Mensa Family Program, because this name is more inclusive.

New Member Dinner: Bob Zdanky reported the first quarterly new member dinner was a huge success. The next dinner is scheduled for July 22, 2012.

New Business

2013 RG: Teresa Gregory has agreed to chair the 2013 RG, which will be held on January 25-27, 2013 at the Waterfront Hotel. She reported that the hotel has agreed to honor the $69 room rate; however, as of July 2012, the facility will be a non-smoking one and both the bar and restaurant are gone. Rick's Café, a nearby restaurant, has offered to cater the Sunday brunch for the event. The theme is "We Survived." Teresa plans to have speakers and would like to offer a small stipend or some kind of gratuity as a way to entice a higher level of speakers to the event. She says there are plenty of funds in the RG account to support compensating speakers. She's interested in forming an RG Committee to plan a real blockbuster event, considering there was no 2012 RG due to Indy hosting the Super Bowl.

MIND: Karen Zwick is looking for a guest editor to handle the MIND in August and September, as she has personal commitments that will take her away from her editor duties. Karen Wilczewski has volunteered to fill in for Zwick for these two months.

Mensa Testing Day: October 20, 2012 has been designated as Mensa Testing Day.

The meeting adjourned at 8:50 p.m. (Karen Zwick moved to adjourn; Jan Pfeil Doyle seconded the motion. It passed unanimously)

Respectfully submitted,
Karen E. Wilczewski, Recording Secretary
