VOTE! Did you hear that? If you are holding a paper issue of MIND in your hand, your ballot is the centerfold this month. Read the instructions carefully and follow them completely so that your vote counts. If you are reading this on your computer or other electronic device, your ballot will come in the mail in an envelope. Again, read the instructions carefully and follow them completely. Every vote counts. In the past, there have been some wins by one or two votes.

We heard our candidates “sell themselves” at the August Monthly Gathering. They did a very good job which only makes the choices harder.

The kittens are now four months old, and there is nowhere they can't go. I was talking on the phone the other night and watched one of them climb the curtains, then walk along the top of the woodwork over the door while sniffing the ceiling. What does the ceiling smell like? I don't know because I haven't been up there. The two places they have not been are the basement and outside. Going to work in the morning has become way more challenging than it should be. As soon as I start through the dining room, they all run and hover by the door, plotting their escape. Fortunately, I haven't lost one yet but it's not because they haven't tried.

Please Vote! – Central Indiana Mensa’s bi-annual elections are here. The group will elect a Local Secretary and eight additional board members to serve on ExCom for the next two years (aka Executive Committee, the board that conducts the day-to-day business of running CIM). The Nominating Committee, chaired by Marcele Everest, did an outstanding job of recruiting candidates. Thank you all! We have a nice cross section of our membership age-wise, experience-wise, and geography-wise. Candidates’ pictures and campaign statements were in the August MIND. You can send in your ballot or deliver it to the September monthly meeting.

Record(?) Turn Out for Mensans Dining Out – Bob Zdanky has done a wonderful job of finding fun places for us to eat out together. The popularity of the event has grown—we had 26 people show up at Some Guys Pizza and Pasta in July! It’s great to have so many people participating, but it does make things a little difficult for Bob to make arrangements with the restaurant when he doesn’t know how many to expect. So, due to increased popularity ☺, please make the effort to let Bob know you’re planning to come by Meet Up, email, or phone. It will make it easier for restaurants to serve us.

New Members Dinner – Speaking of Bob, he also organizes our quarterly new members dinners. I hope to meet several new members at George’s Neighborhood Grill (a new location for us) on Sept. 14th.

MMatMM – Several of us had a nice time at the Mensa Meetup at the Monon Mixer at the Monon Water Park in Carmel. Picture a nice water park with no screaming kids—it was an adults-only event. Not that I have anything against children screaming at water parks; that’s what kids are supposed to do at water parks and I’m glad they are having fun! But it was pleasant to stroll around the park, looking at the various water-related “opportunities” and enjoying conversation while a mellow live band played in the background. Alison Brown, the organizer, arrived early, secured a cabana for us, and provided snacks. There were local wineries and breweries and food trucks there vending their wares. The evening was pleasantly cool for August so we mostly sat in the cabana doing what Mensans like to do: eating, drinking and conversing. We’re already planning to go again next year and are hoping for more summery temperatures so we can enjoy the lazy river!

Don’t forget – To check out the Gen X/Y Cinder SIG To join the Central Indiana Mensa Facebook group To sign up for the Central Indiana Mensa Meet Up To volunteer to help with our Regional Gathering

It was great to see families that have been coming to this event for four or five years, and we got to meet three new families, one of which just joined Mensa a week or two earlier. One of the parents told me that this has been a very meaningful event for her son for many years. Michael Reed was a huge help, and he has offered to help with the Family Program events in the future. He's really good with the kids, and enormously helpful with keeping things running smoothly throughout the weekend. It's great to have him on board!

I got a call from one of the new families Friday afternoon. "We're at Pretty Lake, but we can't find you." After unsuccessfully trying to find a common landmark, I finally asked what the last town they drove through was. Middlebury. Apparently there is another "Pretty Lake" but it's not the same Pretty Lake in Plymouth, Indiana where we've had this event for the past four years. They were less than 10 miles from the Michigan border in an entirely wrong part of the state! Nearly five hours after they left home, a tightly packed small car with three hungry kids, two exhausted parents, and a windsurfing board strapped to the top rolls in. I felt so bad for them, but they made it and ended up having a grand time!

I think the highlight of this year for me was the sailboats. Sailing is such an incredible experience. Clipping through the water at high speeds with just the sound of the wind in your sails and waves lapping against your hull is nothing short of exhilarating! On the open water I feel a connection with sailors from thousands of years ago who only had wind for propulsion. Sailing easy to learn, but it takes years to intimately know and harness the ever-changing forces of nature. It's ok be confident, but you can never let your guard down even for a moment. When I'm out on my own, I feel like I'm with an old friend and foe, the wind. We've always had our little 1970 model Sunfish, but the 43 year old sail fell apart last summer in the high winds. Aside from being ridiculously expensive, it's nearly impossible to find a replacement sail for a boat this old. Instead, we looked on Craigslist and found a 1980's model 14.2' Catalina Capri racing class boat for an incredible price. It sails like a dream! In the mean time I found a local company that sells sailcloth (Dacron) for around $10/yard. Six yards was enough to make an entire sail for the Sunfish. I taught myself how to use a sewing machine, and the sail was ready to go in less than a day. One of the families brought their own windsurfing board to add to the excitement. It was tons of fun to have three sailing boats on the lake at the same time.

Another highlight was the midnight swim. The cooler temperatures this summer were just right for camping, and the lake was a perfect temperature. After it got dark, we roasted smores. This is always a gooey endeavor, so we jumped in the lake to wash off. The moon was bright and visibility was excellent. After the kids retired in their tents, many of the adults remained in the lake and talked well into the morning. Everything was so perfect.

This year went really smoothly overall, and we're looking forward to doing it again in 2015. It will probably be held in late July.

Cinder

Ethan Blocher-Smith

As always, thanks to everyone who will have attended the Cinder meeting in August. As a reminder, Cinder will be meeting at 721 E. 55th Street, Indianapolis, IN 46202 for the foreseeable future. This is right by the intersection of 55th and College, near the heart of Broad Ripple. If you have a friend, child, or someone interested in Mensa who is a member of Generation X or Y (18+), tell them about our event. As always, any Mensan is free, with non-members paying $5, or $1 if they bring a snack to share. Assorted snacks and drinks will be provided.

This month (September) we will look at a range of topics under the broad scope of the nuclear age. This includes nuclear weapons, nuclear power, nuclear medicine, nuclear disarmament, and anything else that reasonably falls under the heading “nuclear.” Do we need our >4000 ICBM strong nuclear arsenal? Is nuclear power safe? Is nuclear power better than coal, natural gas, or even solar for power generation? Was Chernobyl a fluke, or an inevitability? These questions and many more are open for discussion, but only if you come and join us. I hope to see you there.

How to Engage Your Members at the Local Level

Ellen Voie, RVC 4

A majority of Mensa members never attend a meeting, never participate in online forums and never travel to a Regional or Annual Gathering. They might be content to just carry the Mensa card in their wallet.

Maybe they are reading your newsletter and thinking of venturing out to meet other Mensans but they're not sure what to expect. How can you engage them and encourage their participation at the local level?

We are very fortunate in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan to have numerous groups and area coordinators who plan events and coordinate activities. To encourage this, the Executive Committee has approved an annual $500 fund for each group to use for member events. The goal is to offer as many local activities as possible to reach as many new and current members as we can.

After all, aren't the dues we collect intended to support our members?

John Sheelk is a recently renewed Mensa member who jumped in at the local level and started coordinating a monthly dinner in the Oshkosh area. When John learned about the $500 available for an activity, he asked the group for suggestions and the outcome is a ride on a paddle wheel boat in Waupaca (Wisconsin) on October 4th. The $500 will cover the cost of the boat rental and some snacks on the cruise.

For those who are interested in attending, please come! The paddle wheel boat is called the Chief Waupaca and it is docked at Clearwater Harbor. The boat leaves at 11:00 a.m. and returns at 1:00 p.m. Check WiscoM or the online calendar for details and fees. John planned the cruise to coincide with peak fall colors, so the view should be amazing.

Jon Kohler is the area coordinator in the northeastern part of Wisconsin. In addition to the "second Thursday" dinners, Jon plans a Team Trivia night at a local restaurant. The Mensa group, known as "Abby Normal," competes as a team for fun, and sometimes places in the top three!

In the past, Jon has coordinated boat rides on the Fox River as well as tours through the botanical gardens and even a sky diving event and, yes, I jumped!

If you are thinking of attending a sporting event, concert or tour and wouldn't mind some company, put the event on your local calendar and invite other Mensa members to join you. There may be people in your area who are not interested in sitting in a restaurant for dinner, but would walk through the botanical gardens with you. Maybe your events are always on the same weeknight and some members have a conflict each week. If you move your events around, you might get some new faces at your activities.

Remember to consider those who are uncomfortable attending an event in someone's home. They might be allergic to cats, cigarette smoke or just don't want to walk into a stranger's home. You may think a game night in your home is a great way to meet people, but for others, a nearby restaurant or library would be more amenable.

Not all Mensa members are going to become active and join you, but the more events you offer and the more you move the day and time, the more participation you will have.

It's been proven that an engaged member will be retained longer than an isolated one, so try to get those silent members involved. Expand your idea of a meeting beyond monthly dinners and you may be surprised at the outcome!

Culture Vulture Play On!

Margy Lancet Fletcher

I am pleased to announce that, once again, I have been cast in an Epilogue Players production. Play On! is a deliciously hilarious, eminently entertaining comedy about a community theater group desperately trying to prepare a play while plagued with every conceivable production problem: ego struggles between the actors, set construction mishaps, a sound system gone awry, and – worst of all – a vainglorious local playwright who constantly rewrites her script and interferes with the rehearsal process. A prescription for disaster? You bet – and a guaranteed laugh riot. My character, Louise, is the recalcitrant light, sound, and set technician who can wield a hammer and curse like a fishwife, but has not yet mastered the art of making a good pot of coffee. The cast also includes the director, the stage manager/prompter, the actors (three men and three women), and the playwright – an ensemble of truly delightful characters. I invite all of you to share the mirth; it's just what the doctor ordered in these violent, troubled times.

INFORMATION ON THE SHOW

Production Dates:

- Friday through Sunday, September 12-14
- Friday through Sunday, September 19-21
- Friday through Sunday, September 26-28

Curtain Times: 7:30 PM Friday and Saturday, 2:00 PM Sunday

Ticket Prices: Adult $13.00, Epilogue Members and Seniors (age 65+) $11, Children (12 and Under) $9.00. Tickets can be ordered via the reservation line, 317-926-3139, or via e-mail, epilogue.players@yahoo.com. Phone calls are not returned unless there is a problem with the reservation, but email messages will receive responses.

Venue Location: The Epilogue Theatre is located at the intersection of 19th and Alabama Streets in Indianapolis, on the north side of the Hedback Building, which also houses Footlite Musicals. You can park along either of the two streets.

Additional Notes: The house opens 30 minutes prior to the show. Payment for tickets takes place at the door via cash or personal check (no credit or debit cards can be accepted). Seating capacity is limited and the seats are not numbered, so you will want to arrive as soon as possible after the house opens.

I thank you in advance for your support, and hope to see you there!

Central Indiana Mensa ExCom Minutes 6/24/14

The regular monthly meeting of the Central Indiana Mensa ExCom was held at Midwest Internet on Tuesday, June 24, 2014.

LocSec Jan Pfeil Doyle called the meeting to order at 6:58 p.m. Members present were: Jan Pfeil Doyle, David Culp, Teresa Gregory, Karen Steilberger, Karen Wilczewski, Bob Zdanky, and Karen Zwick. Absent: Ann Hake. Guest: Jud Horning.

The committee reviewed the minutes of the May ExCom meeting. Karen Zwick moved that the minutes be accepted as presented, Teresa Gregory seconded the motion, and the motion was carried.

Karen Zwick presented the Treasurer's report and made one correction. She also presented the profit and loss statement for the RG and the OG, which showed that CIM nearly broke even on the two events combined. The committee discussed using the information as a basis for budgeting in the future. David Culp made a motion to accept the report as corrected, Karen Wilczewski seconded the motion, and the motion was carried.

The membership report shows 0 new, 2 move-in, and 2 reinstating and 7 renewing members, and 20 prospects.

Old Business

Elections: Jan Pfeil Doyle said that we have a slate of nominees.

Member initiatives: Regarding the proposal from George Dunn to hold a formal group activity at the conclusion of the monthly meeting, Jan Pfeil Doyle said that no information was received in time to be included in the next MIND. Flexibility will be built into the meetings to accommodate the activity.

Buzz Fund event: The subcommittee has not met yet. Karen Zwick will get a meeting scheduled.

RG date change: The committee discussed the possibility of moving the RG to the summer from January. The weather would be better, but it would mean we would not have an OG, and at this time there is no guarantee of the availability of the hotel at a different weekend. Jan Pfeil Doyle suggested that the ExCom discuss this more next February or March. There may be other windows of dates available to us at that time.

New Business

RG 2015: Jan Pfeil Doyle said that the Chicago Mensa chapter is moving their AGOG (A Gathering of Gamers) event to February. In the past it has conflicted with our RG.

Teresa Gregory said she would like to offer a free admissions test for each non-member who pays for the full weekend. She would like to get this into the Bulletin, which requires 6 weeks' notice. Karen Zwick moved that we try the idea at the next RG, Bob Zdanky seconded the motion, and the motion was carried. Teresa asked for suggestions for a theme to be sent to her within a week. The committee discussed reusing the WTF (Winter Time Fun) theme.

New member dinner: Bob Zdanky asked the committee members to think about an alternate location for future new member dinners. The next one will be the first Sunday in August.

There being no other business, David Culp made a motion to adjourn the meeting. Karen Wilczewski seconded the motion. The motion was carried, and the meeting was adjourned at 7:38 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Karen Steilberger

The Mensa scholarship application process opens Sept. 15 and closes Jan. 15.

The Mensa Foundation's college scholarship program bases its awards totally on essays written by the applicants. Consideration is not given to grades, academic program or financial need. U.S. applicants need not be Mensa members. However, Mensa members may apply for both these scholarship programs and the additional Mensa Member Award Program.

Watch for more details next month.
